

Studying the relationship between FEV and height considering different potentially confounding, effect modification or precision variables.